In 1964 Alois bought the Viscount Flour Mill where he made flour, as well as sold bagged bulk goods, livestock supplies, fertilizer, and liquor. He had many great customers, loved to talk to them, and was very appreciative of them.

Alois met the love of his life, Beate (nee Roback) in Humboldt, Saskatchewan in 1964 and got married in 1969. They had two sons, Rob (1970) and Anthony (1972) and raised the family in Viscount. Throughout the various years in Viscount, Alois was a trustee on the Catholic school board, a village councilor, and was active with both the Knights of Columbus and the Elks. In 2001 Alois retired and spent his time with Beate. He loved crop checking, woodworking, and yard work, but most of all he loved visiting with people. In December 2012 Beate passed away.

Alois is survived by his two sons Rob (of Calgary) and his wife Carleen along with their children Andrew (Tabitha), Madison, Sydney, Cassie, and Shea, and Anthony (of Switzerland) and his children Jana and Jamie. Alois was predeceased by his wife Beate and we find peace in knowing that they are together once again. He was also predeceased by his parents Marie and Ferdinand, and some of his brothers in Switzerland.
